

The client receives the data from the API as xml and json the API takes the requested one from the DB and gives it to the user

